

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A micromechanical resonator device and a method of making the micromechanical resonator device, as well as other extensional mode devices are provided wherein anchor losses are minimized by anchoring at one or more side
5 nodal points of the resonator device. Lower damping forces are experienced by the resonator device when operated in air.